

Global Root Health Knowledge Pool

European Root Health
Forum
2015

Dr. Melanie Goll, Network Community Manager

Purpose

The Root Health Knowledge Pool was initiated in order to make all of the information collected over the past three years globally available to researchers and other industry colleagues who are interested in Root Health – in an easily-accessed, structured manner

Organization

The information is organized like a small web library that contains links to peer reviewed journals and newsletter and web articles, as well as video interviews

Building content

The Root Health Knowledge Pool is envisioned as a growing source that will constantly evolve – rather than ever be complete – as available information increases through continued research

Sharing expert perspectives

We seek to provide high value information and perspectives that can be shared further among researchers

News & Views: Interviews with experts from the different regions for their views on Root Health

Publications: Links to peer reviewed articles related to Root Health, New technology reports, Newsletter articles, Webarticles

Multimedia: Videolinks, Other related Webpages

You can also submit your research and interesting links
RootHealth.com